

AdNovum Corvin T.Park

Easy access, cost effective, high standards office space.

Client Objectives

AdNovum a Swiss renowned IT software company due to their expansion plans needed new office locations, aim was to bring the two different offices together.

Their aim was to stay on the Buda side with the same high quality standards, easy access locations and fit within the budget.

Results

We started to work with them 2 years before their lease expiry which enabled us to find the perfect solution that could accommodate all their needs. After looking at few Buda options we have introduced them 2 great options on the Pest side as well, and the newly developed Corvin Office was selected. After several challenging negotiations we managed to finalise the contract with the AdNovum desired terms, and conditions that would bring all employees under one roof, on a competitive rent and allow further expansions if needed. The hiccup of the move was that the development handover was delayed which created a challenging situation as the previous landlord set a high rent for the extended period. After several difficult negotiations we managed to sort out the situation in the favour of our client by convincing the new landlord to take on this extra cost.
